

Thank you for shopping our 2011 Black Friday sale.

We are sending out this advanced flyer of some of the items that will be for sale starting 12:00 Noon central time on Thanksgiving Day and will end for each item as the quantity listed sells out or at Midnight on Monday 11/28/11. So the sale is active throughout Monday the 28th.

We will not accept advanced orders, so please only call or email if you have questions regarding the item that is on sale. We will accept your orders via the following list of options:

1. Order placed through the website.
2. Order placed over the phone (but that order placed on the phone must be processed by us through the website while you are on the phone. This is to assure fair allocation of the items for sale. We are giving this option for those that are not going to have a computer available to them at the time they want to place the order).
3. Walk in customers can purchase the items but again we will process the order through the website with the customer here.

All items will be first come first served. The items we have for sale will have a quantity listed with them. We will not accept back orders for these items. When the item is out of stock it is sold out, we only will have the number listed available. Putting an item in your shopping cart on the website does NOT make it unavailable to someone else. The item will be removed from stock at the point you complete your checkout process. All orders will be filled based on the time and date stamp on the order. You will be contacted if an item you have purchased was actually not available.

Thank you again for your patronage.
